City Sounds

In the heart of the bustling city, lived a little bird named Chirpy. Chirpy loved the city, but the noise was too much for her. Cars honking, people shouting, and dogs barking, it was all too loud. One day, Chirpy had an idea. She would sing louder than the city noise. So, she took a deep breath and sang her heart out. Her sweet song echoed through the city streets. People stopped to listen. The cars slowed down. Even the dogs seemed to quiet down. Chirpy's song had brought a moment of peace to the noisy city. From that day on, whenever the city got too loud, Chirpy would sing her song. And for a while, the city would listen.
