Space Seasons

In the future, our friend Timmy lives in a space station. He loves looking at Earth from his window. He sees the Earth changing colors. "Why does it change?" Timmy wonders. One day, he asks his robot friend, Robo. "Robo, why does Earth change colors?" Robo explains, "Timmy, Earth has four seasons. In spring, flowers bloom. Earth looks colorful. In summer, trees are green. Earth looks green. In autumn, leaves fall. Earth looks orange. In winter, snow falls. Earth looks white." Timmy is happy. He understands why Earth changes colors. He loves watching the seasons from space.
