City Space Mystery

In the heart of the bustling city, the Johnson family lived in a tall, grey apartment building. One day, young Timmy Johnson noticed something strange. Every night, a bright light would appear in the sky, right above their building. It wasn't a star or a plane, and it certainly wasn't the moon. It was a mystery! Timmy decided to investigate. He told his family about the light, but they were too busy with their city lives to pay much attention. So, Timmy took matters into his own hands. He stayed up late, watching the light from his bedroom window. He noticed it would appear at exactly 8:30 PM and disappear at exactly 5:30 AM. Timmy was puzzled. What could it be? He decided to ask his science teacher, Mrs. Green, about it. She suggested it might be a satellite. Excited, Timmy researched about satellites and found out they orbit the Earth, just like the moon. The next night, Timmy watched the light again. This time, he noticed it moved in a circular path, just like a satellite. He was thrilled! He had solved the mystery! The next day, he told his family about his discovery. They were amazed and proud of Timmy. From that day on, the Johnson family would gather every night to watch the satellite, their own little piece of space, right in the heart of the city.
