Snake'S New Friends

In the hot, sandy desert, lived a lonely snake named Sammy. Sammy was different from other snakes. He was friendly and loved to play. But, he had no friends. Every day, he would slither around the desert, hoping to find someone to play with. One day, Sammy saw a group of meerkats playing. He slithered over and said, "Hello, can I play with you?" The meerkats were scared at first, but Sammy showed them he was friendly. They played all day, and Sammy was happy. From that day on, Sammy was never lonely. He had found his new friends.
