City Seasons Mystery

In the future city of Animville, where animals could talk, four friends - Spring the Sparrow, Summer the Squirrel, Autumn the Ant, and Winter the Whale - lived. Each friend was named after a season and had a special power related to it. One day, they noticed the seasons were changing randomly. It was snowing in Summer and sunny in Winter! They decided to solve this mystery. Spring used her power to grow plants instantly, and found a clue - a leaf that should only fall in Autumn. Summer used her power to find nuts and seeds, and found another clue - a snowflake that should only appear in Winter. Autumn, with her power to move earth, found a sunflower seed that should only grow in Summer. Winter, with his power to create snow, found a blooming flower that should only appear in Spring. They realized someone was mixing up the seasons! They followed the clues to the city center and found a mischievous monkey named Mix-Up playing with a magical weather machine. They explained the problem and Mix-Up apologized, promising to fix the seasons. And so, the seasons returned to normal in Animville, thanks to our four brave friends.
