Seasons Of The Ancient Future

In the future, a group of adventurous children discovered a portal to an ancient civilization. This civilization had four distinct seasons, each with its own unique culture. In Spring, they celebrated the rebirth of nature with colorful festivals. In Summer, they honored the sun with grand feasts. Autumn was a time of harvest, marked by sharing and gratitude. Winter was a time of storytelling, where they passed down their history and wisdom. The children spent a year in this civilization, experiencing each season and its traditions. They returned to their future world, carrying the ancient culture in their hearts, ready to share it with their own civilization.
